Monday

Dear Mr. Clemson

I am sorry that the first note I write to you should be on an unpleasant subject - an apology for a breach of promise. As I must refrain from walking with you to day & indeed I fear seeing you for some days

There is a servant in our house taken ill with the varioloid - & I think it would be wrong to see you until I discover whether I have not got it myself.

Very truly yours
G. H. Burdett.
